The recent photograph from England shows that there is no personal bitterness between Bonar Law, prime minister, and his predecessor, Lloyd George. They still had time for a friendly chat during the heat of the campaign.

EXPLOSION IN MOONSHINE DISTILLERY IN CHICAGO CAUSES DEATHS OF THREE

DISCUSS MERGER OF ROADS OF NORTHWEST INTO TWO SYSTEMS

Hearing on Plan Held Friday
Before Interstate Commerce Commission

HILL GROUP OF ROADS ARE OPPOSED TO CONSOLIDATION

Plan Proposes to Include G. N.
in Milwaukee Group

WASHINGTON—Whether transcontinental railroads in the northwest should be consolidated into two regional systems, one built around the Great Northern and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, and the other around the Northern Pacific
and Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, was taken up for consideration at a hearing Friday before the interstate commerce commission.

Representatives of the Hill group,
including the Northern Pacific, Great Northern and Burlington, were given first hearing and through Walker D.
Hines, formerly director general of railroads, they attacked the consolidation plan.

Other railroads concerned, including the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul through its president, H. E. Brown, and the Duluth, Mesabie &
Northern, one of the iron ore carriers,
as well as state railroad commissions, were represented.

Commissioner Hall explained the commission was proceeding under instruction of congress to prepare a consolidation plan that would combine all major railroads into eighteen or twenty regional systems. The commission, he said, had tentatively proposed to separate the Great Northern from the present "Hill" group,
combine it with the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and create two strong systems in the same territory.

However, the commission's plan
is not a judgement of the situation, he declared. "It represents an attack at the general problem and a basis for building up the fullest record of fact and argument which the commission can elicit in aid of its decisions and the eventual action will be dictated by findings from the record."

NEWSPAPERS HAPPY OVER OUTCOME OF BRITISH ELECTION

Hail Return to Party Government in Death of the Former Coalition

LABOR GOVERNMENT COMING
IS PREDICTION OF HERALD

Majority of Conservatives Will be Close to Eighty

LONDON.—By The Associated Press.
—Gratification is expressed by most of the morning newspapers at the result of the parliamentary elections. This was, of course, to be expected from the conservative press, in view of the retention of the conservative majority, but some of the liberal newspapers also find certain grounds
for satisfaction, or at least compensation.

They recognize that the outcome
means a return to party government
and the disappearance of all they most disliked in the survival of the coalition long after they regarded its dissolution as due.

"We are rid," says the Westminster Gazette, "of the compromise and subterfuges which have made parliament contemptible."

Predict Labor Government
The Daily Herald, existing over labor's successes, anticipates another election within eighteen months and says: "If meantime we play our cards boldly and skillfully we ought to have a labor government without doubt."

The size of the conservative majority is seriously disputed by the papers,
their figures ranging from 80 to 87
and until all the returns are complete
this divergence will continue.

A curious situation obtains in the northwest division of Derbyshire
where labor candidate, Frank Lee,
was at first declared elected by a majority of 14 votes. A recount being demanded, this majority was reduced to two. There have now been six counts in all and all have been challenged. There will be another Friday, which perhaps will be final.

For the first time in the history of the British parliament a candidate standing as an avowed communist was elected when J. V. Newbold was returned for the Motherwell division of Lanarkshire.

Churchill Beaten by "Dry"
Another isolated new member is E.
Smyth, prohibitionist, who, with the laborite, E. D. Morel, defeated Winston Spencer Churchill, and three other candidates in Dundee, a two-seat constituency.

Those who expected Mr. Churchill's defeat little expected Smyth's victory. He has been trying to enter parliament for Dundee since 1905, his candidate, hitherto, being treated largely as a joke. He is an ardent prohibitionist and was one of those who brought Carrie Nation to Great Britain years ago. The women's votes are thought to have been a large factor in his election as they outnumber
the men in this district.

Mr. Churchill seems to have been much upsets by the result, although he spoke cheerfully when it became known. Weak from his operation and the efforts of the last few days of the contest, he presented, according to onlookers, a moving figure when his defeat was announced, tears
standing in his eyes.

Women Poll Heavy Vote
Notwithstanding the rejection of all except two of the thirty-three women candidates, it is noteworthy that they polled a very large number of votes
and everywhere proved formidable opponents. The largest vote for a woman candidate was cast in Northampton,
where the noted labor leader,
Miss Margaret Bonfield, polled
more than 14,000 votes. Lady Cooper,
an opponent of the conservative ticket,
also received over 14,000 and came near defeating her liberal opponent
in Walsall.

The future of labor in parliament is a matter of special interest. Being now the second largest party in the house, it should, according to parliamentary tradition, become the official opposition, and it is expected
it will claim for its chairman the post
of leader of what is sometimes fac-tiously called "his majesty's opposition." This, however, may be disputed because Mr. Lloyd George, as the outgoing premier, has some claim to the position.

SHIP SUBSIDY BILL UP THURSDAY WITH VOTE NOVEMBER 29

WASHINGTON—Agreement was reached by house leaders Friday to take up the ship subsidy bill next Thursday under a rule providing for three days of general debate and unlimited opportunity for amendments
with a final vote on November 29.

SIBERIAN REPUBLIC ABOLISHED; WILL JOIN RUSS SOVIET

ernment of the far eastern republic of Siberia was abolished Friday. The assembly voted to unite with the soviet government of Moscow.

Santa Claus Is Coming To La Crosse

As atmosphere of excitement has been very evident in the downtown section for the last few days.
Considerable sleuthing was required
before the inquiring reporter could locate the cause. Finally the following telegram was discovered:

"Retail Merchants,
"La Crosse, Wis.
"Remembering my pleasant visit
among you good folks last year, I have been waiting for an invitation to come again this year. It is important that I know at once whether I am to come or not, as several other cities want me, but I would rather come to La Crosse than any city I know of. If I come I want to bring Mrs. Santa with me, as the two children, Kris Kringle and Merry Christmas are old enough to manage the rest of the world, while I give my exclusive attention to La Crosse. Reply by return Radio.

(Signed) "SANTA CLAUS."
No wonder all the merchants got excited! So there was a hurry-up meeting a few days ago, and the motion to have the jolly old saint come again this year was carried by acclamation.
"Will your radio reach the home
of Santa Claus?" they asked Ben Ott. "Also-tively," said Ben, and the following message was soon flashing through the air:
"Santa Claus,
"North Pole.
"Under no conditions arrange to go anywhere but La Crosse. All the kids from eight to eighty are waiting for you. Mighty glad to have this chance to meet the Missis. Prepare to receive the warmest reception in all your two thousand years.

(Signed)
"RETAIL MERCHANTS OF LA CROSSE."

And that's that, as Mr. MacAvey
of the world's greatest newspaper would say. There's a vast hurrying around to get things ready, and for the benefit of certain inquisitive folks,
that's the reason the iron brackets
are making their appearance on the light posts of the north and south side business streets. For there are going to be Christmas trees, a whole
forest of them, right on Main street.
There's going to be other things, too.
And will Santa Claus get a royal welcome? That's right, children.

FORMER PASTOR IS HERE WITH HIS SON FOR MEN'S COFFEE

Rev. Henry Faville and Rev.
Theodore Faville Attend Congregational Church Event

INTERESTING TALKS AND REMINISCENCES MARK FEED
Other Out-of-town Guests at the Annual Coffee

Before a dozen other eating and speaking institutions were established in La Crosse, the Rev. Henry Faville organized the "Gentlemen's
Coffee" as an annual affair in the First Congregational church, of which he was long pastor. Since retiring from this church, it has been the custom,
now for the tenth time, to have him
return and preside at this function.

So the 28th annual men's dinner of the First Congregational church of La Crosse kept up its long record of having this presiding genius as the toastmaster, but it also had the unusual feature of having as a chief guest of honor the Rev. Theodore R. Faville, recently chosen general superintendent of the Wisconsin Congregational
conference, a son of the former pastor,
and a child of this church and community.

The Rev. Irving Manner of Columbus, Ohio, had been announced as a principal speaker, but a tragic death
in his church kept him from filling his engagement here. Instead, the Rev.
James K. Lyman of Marshfield, Wis., told in a most thrilling manner of his marvelous experiences in dealing with the Turks in the terrible crises of recent years in that land. Heroes of the war are decorated for the numbers of men killed or taken prisoner, but Mr.
Lyman was able to save from massacre by the Turks a community of 12,000 Armenians at one time, and carried out, with his comrades, many other plans of saving life of the highest significance. The salvation of the world's civilization is not in the hands
of armies, but in the hands of the missionaries of the churches. Armies may stop after a few destructive years, but the heroes of relief, education, of healing, or gospel service,
will devote limitless energy and constructive genius for all the life they can give. The pioneers of life to the dying are not tired of their job nor ready to run away from it. Their only fear is that America will grow tired
of sustaining them in these vast enterprises so essential to the civilization of the future.

In his address Superintendent
Faville spoke of the great common tasks
of the churches of America in more fully Christianizing our own population, and of his representative capacity as leader of the Wisconsin group of Congregational churches in these splendid enterprises. He was often referred to facetiously as "our newly elected bishop of Wisconsin," a title
which he assured us he did not presume to claim.

Other out of town guests were District Superintendents F. W. Heber-lein and John W. Wilson, and also the Rev. T. W. Cole and Mr. George Dudley of West Salem and Mr. Growt of Trempealeau.

The Rev. Henry Faville reported as usual upon some of his experiences of the past year, dwelling especially upon the reunion of six classmates of the Boston University Theological school of 46 years ago, himself and his brother John being hosts to the other four on the 5th birthday of these twin ministers of high repute, last July, at their home in Lake Mills.

There was a fine attendance of the men of the church in recognition of the delightful hospitality of the ladies of the church, in which hospitality
this year the Men's club has a share.

In addition to a number of songs by the diners themselves, Mr. O. Henrickson, a recent arrival in the city,
entertained with a solo.

FERRYVILLE MEN GET ONE DEER

John Eppert and Berger Olson
of Ferryville, Wis., arrived here
last night from Stanley after enjoying several days of deer hunting. They had one deer strapped to the running board of their car.

HER SMILE SAVES "HAMMER SLAYER" FROM THE GALLOWS

MRS. CLARA PHILLIPS
LOS ANGELES, Cal.—Mrs. Clara
Phillips was saved from the gallows by her smiles.

The men members of the jury
which found her guilty of second degree murder for beating Mrs. Alberta Meadows to death with a hammer
were quoted Friday as admitting that had it not been for the defendant's smile, she probably would have been convicted of first degree murder,
without a recommendation for clemency, thus making death the only penalty.

They said that Mrs. Phillips seemed to study them, out at a time
and flash frequent smiles at them
while she turned an apparently stoical
back to the spectators crowded in the courtroom.

The defense planned to ask a new trial Monday, the time set for passing sentence, which may be any period
of years from ten to life.

LA CROSSE BREWER IS ARRAIGNED HERE IN FEDERAL COURT

J. L. Erickson Charged With Possession of Beer Between
May and August

GIVES BOND FOR APPEARANCE
IN COURT AT MADISON MONDAY

Indictment Returned by Grand Jury in that City

CHARGED with possession of 100
barrels of beer containing more than one-half of one per cent alcohol,
between May and August this year,
J. L. Erickson, La Crosse brewer,
was arraigned before United States Commissioner Alfred Harrison Friday morning, on an indictment returned by the federal grand jury in session at Madison.

Deputy United States Marshal Will
Toussaint served the indictment on Mr.
Erickson, who, accompanied by his attorney, George H. Gordon, proceeded to the office of Mr. Harrison in the federal building and gave bond of $2,000 for his appearance in federal court at Madison next Monday.

Mr. Erickson for many years has conducted the Monitor brewery at the north end of the causeway. Like other brewers in this section, he has been engaged in the manufacture and sale of near beer since the Volstead act went into effect.

NEW CHANCELLOR BUSY WITH PLANS FOR NEW CABINET

BERLIN.—Wilhelm Cuno, newly designated German chancellor, began selecting a ministry Friday.

Herr Cuno proposes to organize a "cabinet of work" comprising middle
and socialist parties, and was apparently reassured by his advance survey yesterday with various party leaders.

DEER HUNTER SHOT IRON RIVER, MICH.

PEARCE, Mengsha, Wis., was shot by his brother Thursday when mistaken for a deer. He was rushed to an Iron River hospital where doctors said
he would probably would prove fatal.
The two brothers had hunted together fifteen years.

SOL BURDICK, STATE ROAD COMMITTEE ARE RE-ELECTED BY BOARD

Poor Commissioner Unanimously Named to Succeed Himself;
Contests for Committee

SUPERVISORS ARE GUESTS
AT POOR FARM FOR DINNER

War on Slot Machines and Dance Hall Regulation

SOL BURDICK, poor commissioner, was unanimously re-elected to office by the county board Friday morning.

Mrs. Isabel Van Loon, town of Shelby, was elected member of the traveling library committee in place
of B. E. McCormick and Mrs. W. J.
Dawson was unanimously re-elected to the committee.

Frank Coburn of West Salem was chosen to succeed himself as trustee of the county insane asylum. T. G.
Aiken was renamed trustee of the county agricultural school.

The county agricultural committee,
Adolph Nuttleman, H. C. Gaarder
and S. P. Markie, was re-elected.

Two contests developed in the election of a state road and bridge
committee. Chairman R. W. Davis, Adolph Nuttleman and V. S. Keppel were unanimously re-elected. K. W.
Gunter was re-elected over John
Kindley, 25 votes to 11.

John Ash had some competition
for re-election but the formal ballot stood Ash 22, Barney Olson, 7, and John Kindley, 3.

Orin Fletcher introduced a resolution asking the co-operation of the sheriff and district attorney with the authorities of the various towns in the county for the suppression of slot machines for gambling purposes
throughout the county, and also for their removal from saloons, soft drink parlors and other places in the county where they may be in operation.

Mr. Fletcher's resolution also asked for a strict enforcement of the dance hall regulations, especially those pertaining to the attendance of minors at dances.

Val Keppel asked that the resolution be referred to the legislative committee as several resolutions of a similar nature already were before the committee and it was desired to merge and co-ordinate all such resolutions. The Fletcher resolutions were referred to the legislative committee.

At noon Friday, the supervisors
were the guests of Sol Burdick, poor commissioner, at dinner at the county
poor farm.

RAILROAD WORKER KILLED BY TRAIN AT ALMA FRIDAY

ALMA, Wis.—Milan Gliese,
bagman on Burlington train No.
50, south-bound, was killed
early Friday when he missed
his footing in attempting to board the train as it was leaving the station here, his former home, according to a belief expressed by railroad men.

Gliese's mangled body was found on the track in front of the station. His parents reside
here, but for the past few years
he had made his home in Minneapolis. He is married.

An inquest was to be held.

TURKISH SULTAN FLIES TO BRITISH FOR PROTECTION

Leaves Constantinople, But Declares He is Not Abdi-cating

FEARED DANGER TO LIFE IF HE REMAINED IN THE CITY

Status of Sultan Subject for Discussion at Peace Meet

LONDON.—By The Associated Press.—Hussien Hilmi Bey,
president of the Turkish socialist party, has been assassinated
in Constantinople, says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from that city Friday. The crime
was ascribed to political motives.

CONSTANTINOPLE.—By The Associated Press.—Mohammed VI,
the Turkish sultan, has fled from Constantinople on a British warship bound for Malta. Upon embarking the sultan emphasized that he was not abdicating but merely removing himself from immediate danger.

The sultan wrote to Lieut.-General
Harrington, the British commander-
in-chief, on Wednesday evening, stating he considered his life to be in danger and would like British protection.

The sultan has been greatly exercised over his status, since the nationalist assembly at Angora voted to deprive him of civil authority and declared the caliph, or religious head
of Islam, would hereafter be selected from the imperial house by vote of the grand national assembly.

With nationalist military elements
coming into Constantinople and knowing Angora authorities would eventually control the Turkish capital the sultan and his advisors have been puzzled as to what course to pursue. Most of his guard went over to the nationalists and Constantinople
dispatches have pictured him
virtually at the mercy of the Kemal-ists. There were rumors he had abdicated, or was about to do so, but these were not confirmed.

Seeks British Protection
Political motives may be read by some in the flight of the sultan on a British warship.

Great Britain concededly has strong motives for seeing no harm
comes to him because of the millions of Mussulmen within her domain,
many of whom have disagreed with the Turkish nationalists, disputing
their power to take action affecting all Islam. The sultan's status, too, is likely to come up at the Lausanne
conference and it appears probable that when his status is debated there
the caliph himself will be under British protection—a refuge at Great Britain's naval base in the Mediterranean.

Curzon Meets Poincare

LONDON.—By The Associated Press.—Foreign Secretary Curzon
leaves for Paris Friday to consult Premier Poincare on policies to be pursued by the allies at the Lausanne peace conference. Lord Curzon plans to proceed to Lausanne,
possibly accompanied by M. Poincare,
in time to hold another preliminary conversation on Sunday with Premier Mussolini of Italy.

If the size of the British delegation may be taken as a criterion, Lausanne will be largest and perhaps the most important conference since Versailles. Although officials are reticent concerning the personnel of the British delegation, it is believed Lord
Curzon will be supported by a retinue
of at least fifty persons.

DALE POSTOFFICE ROBBED

APPLETON, Wis.—The postoffice
at Dale, a village twelve miles from

sisted of $600 in currency and stamps
$400 in certificates of indebtedness
and from $200 to $500 in war savings stamps. The bandits ransacked
the entire office, scattering papers
about, indicating they spent considerable time in the building.

SMOKE PIPE INSTEAD OF "FAG" ADVICE TO WOMEN OF ENGLAND

Doctors Declare Good Tobacco is Not as Injurious to Women as Cigarette

LONDON.—English physicians are urging women who are addicted to smoking, to use a pipe and good tobacco instead of the cigarette. The doctors point out that the nicotine found in the cheaper brands of cigarettes is much more injurious to women than to men, and they declare that the perfumes and scents used in brands prepared for the fair sex also are injurious.

Two recent deaths of women have been attributed directly to cigarette smoking. While these cases have been due to excessive smoking, the physicians say that the same amount of pipe smoking probably would not have had fatal results.

Smoking among women in London

is now almost universal, and one rarely goes to a theater, dance or restaurant where the majority of the women present are not smoking. Recently two young women appeared at an athletic meet smoking pipes, and many of the fashionable shops of Bond street have exhibited stocks of pipes designed for the feminine smoker. However, the innovation has made little progress, and cigarettes are still the favorite.

HERBERT OWSELY OF SPARTA DEAD AFTER A SHORT ILLNESS

SPARTA, Wis.—Word has been received in the city of the death of Herbert Owsley, a former Sparta boy, which took place at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Owsley at Brooks. Death was due to a usual trouble of several years' standing, which resulted in an infection that destroyed the nose. He was forced to give up his work last spring, but until recently, he seemed to be improving. He was confined to his bed only one day. "Herb" as every one in Sparta familiarly called him was born in Watertown 8. D. 42 years ago. His family moved to Sparta when he was a young boy, so he grew up here and received his education in the Sparta schools. After leaving school, he was employed in his father's grocery store and in other stores in the city, until about fifteen years ago, he went to Crookston, Minn., to take a position as traveling salesman for a wholesale grocery house. Later he went with the Fitzsimmons-Palmer Company at Duluth, where he has since been advanced, until he held a very responsible position there. He was buried at Oxford, by the side of his sister Winifred.

The annual meeting of the Monroe Credit association was held at Hotel Briggson, the business meeting. The election of officers for ensuing year was as follows: A. E. of the Tomah Cash Mercantile Company of Tomah was chosen president; Frank Wartzman of the Norwalk Hardware company, vice president; H. J. Davis of the Dodge and Davis Department store, and Ed. Nestigen, Grocer, of Sparta and W. E. Bossard of the Rexall store, Tomah were elected as Directors. All were elected by a unanimous vote.

Topics pertaining to the Credit Business in general were discussed.

The date for the annual meeting was set for the second Thursday in Nov. The Secretary was given authority to take counsel and see and garnish on collections when in his judgment it was deemed advisable to do so. There were about thirty members present, and plans are made to double the membership the coming year and make it a strong organization.

Boys and Girls' Festivals in Japan
For the girls' doll festival in Japan in March of every year, and the boys' festival in May, such an array of dolls is set out as could not be matched for originality and beauty.

These dolls are extremely small, but represent with surprising skill and exactness the imperial court (in the girls' festival) or figures from history, myth, the drama or everyday life. Peach blossoms are used to set them off in the girls' sets and iris for the boys.—Merrill Herald.

There are now about 8,500 miles of railway in Japan.

Know Tootsie's Love-Tutor?

PET a hat you'll guess it before we say, "Al Jolson." Who else could it be; who else could take Tootsie a-tooting up and down Lovelane like Al, old boy? All the girls know Al!

A la Jolson, you call "Toot, Toot, Tootsie," for it's a peach from the garden of love! Al makes it quite sad for every one when he bids Tootsie a fond farewell—yes, to be exact, seven continuous and consecutive farewells. Then, with a breezy "Toot, Toot, Tootsie, Goo-Bye," he hops a choo-choo and hies himself hence.

On the other side of this record, there's old friend Frank Crumit awaiting a turn with "True Blue Sam"—the tale of the traveling man! Here's a scream, all right, for it tells how Sam blew into Honolulu. There he saw a South Sea Sadie shaking her shredded wheat. That settled it! What happened next—well, you want to hear it! What's the use of taking the kick out of the situation! Both songs on 10-inch record A-3705. It sells for 75c.

But these are just samples picked from the new Columbia program that's out to-day. They're all equally good. And they're all made by the new three-ply, laminated process—an exclusive Columbia feature which gives Columbia Records a playing surface of velvet-smoothness that does away with disconcerting surface sounds.

"Cancer Week"

"CANCER WEEK" has an unpleasant sound.

It is one of the gruesome things which humanity must face. It is the more unpleasant because thus far cancer has proven a baffling problem. There is no cure for it. Science, still searching for the secret that will subdue it as smallpox and diphtheria have been conquered, has in the meantime turned in the one direction in which substantial progress has been made. It moves toward prevention, and toward the rescue of the victim when the disease is in its incipency. Along this line much has been accomplished. Thousands of lives have been saved. But the success of preventive measures depends upon the co-operation of the public. Unless the individual, ever watchful, confides promptly and fully in the family physician, the disease makes such headway before discovery that it cannot be eradicated.

Physicians and surgeons have not inaugurated "Cancer Week" because they find pleasure in talking about a rather cruel subject. It is their aim to educate the public and to arouse in the individual the spirit of co-operation. Were they selfish, they would keep still and reap the financial rewards that would accumulate from the rapid spread of the disease. Indeed, in every public health movement, most of them originated and prosecuted by physicians and surgeons, there is displayed that humanity which of late has come to characterize the medical profession as a whole.

One of the things which the medical science must constantly combat is propaganda which aims to frustrate their efforts, sometimes by insinuating mercenary motives, sometimes by seeking to belittle and ridicule the usefulness of medicine and surgery.

"Cancer Week" is not an exception. Newspaper publishers find in every mail propaganda calculated to discredit the efforts of science to combat cancer, which they are importuned to print. One recalls similar propaganda against vaccination for smallpox, against diphtheria antitoxin and other of the great triumphs of medicine. That these may be offered with honest intent does not serve to mitigate the damage they are capable of doing. But well-informed people will not be misled. Older folks remember the ravages of smallpox, when in many cases it almost obliterated entire communities and swept over nations as a relentless pestilence. We recall when diphtheria was almost certain death. We remember when appendicitis and gallstones were deadly menaces to human life. In the old days plagues like yellow fever devastated great populations. There is no field of learning in which so much has been done for society as in the field of medicine and surgery. It has still far to go, and the progress it shall make depends to a considerable degree on the willingness of people to lend intelligent co-operation and to help themselves.

"Cancer Week" brings us hard, distasteful lessons, but we should learn them well. There is no reader of the Tribune whose life may not depend upon the ear which he gives to its profoundly important instructions.

Coulee Country Publicity

THERE begin to be evidences that success is attending the effort which this part of the country is making to secure due tribute to the beauties of the coulee region. Although the idea really was not seriously taken up until this summer there has been a good deal of evangelism effectively done already, and now the word is spreading to wider fields. For instance, the Dearborn Independent, Henry Ford's magazine, in a recent issue discussing tourist travel and the welcome which tourists find all over the country, mentions "the coulee country of Wisconsin, the county of La Crosse made famous by the tales of Hamlin Garland." They go on to relate how the county has "set aside sixteen wayside parks, from one to five acres in size" to "extend the welcoming hand to the stranger who motors that way." There is mention of "the clear bubbling spring, a brook trickling over its stones, a view across a fruitful valley, the sight of the great Mississippi from the top of a bluff, an old Indian trail." And so this magazine of national circulation has given to this region of ours publicity of inestimable and unpurchasable value. Thousands who have never considered that there was a beauty spot in this corner of Wisconsin will think of it in a different light hereafter, and many of them will doubtless make a mental note to include the coulee country in next year's motor trip. It behooves us to be ready for them. These parks which the writer in the Independent mentions must be prepared for their reception, our camp sites should be put in creditable shape—and our roads made such that their reputation will not frighten off visitors. It is a job for all the communities of western Wisconsin and there should be an organization to get underneath the job and lift, that it may not be neglected just because there is no one to tackle it. We repeat again our suggestion of the advisability of a Coulee Region Association. It would find much to do, and it would find the doing well worth the effort.

Fragile Warriors

THERE is talk in the east of a re-arrangement of football schedules. Harvard is reported to be considering dropping Princeton off of its schedule in order to afford Harvard alumni in the west, who have been loyal and generous in the recent endowment campaigns, the inter-sectional game with some one of the big western conference eleven which they have been clamoring for. And it is explained that of course if a hard western game is scheduled a hard eastern game must be dropped, because two hard games a season is all the team can stand. So Harvard will meet only Yale of the big eastern teams, and break up the famous Big Three.

That makes followers of conference football in the mid-west snicker. The vaunted strength and prowess of the fabulous eastern eleven becomes rather dubious to western notions if it is good for only two hard games a season. Any conference football team in the Big Ten has three to five hard games annually. Chicago and Iowa this year found it possible to clean up their conference schedule and meet big eastern teams beside. Wisconsin has been playing a hard game every Saturday practically since the start of the season.

They play great football in the east, without doubt. But it is not very much better, and sometimes not as good, as the western game. To judge by the results of the inter-sectional games that have marked the last few years. And when one considers how the easterners are nursed and pointed to a maximum of two or three real contests for the season, it seems as if the palm really belongs to western football. We could wish that Mr. Walter Camp would consider this in selecting his All Americans.

No one knows what the future has in store, but it is a store where you must go after what you want.

The family skeleton looks better in longer dresses. Many a one horse town has two movies.

Starlight

By JESSIE DOUGLAS

"You're an old maid, Susy Lawrence, and you might as well face the fact!"

Susan Lawrence was staring into the mirror above her wash-bowl and pitcher when she made this barely audible remark. No one else was in the room. It was not the kind of room that Mrs. Tuppitt allowed her boarders to entertain in. If they wished to have visitors, she explained, they must have them in the parlor. But Mrs. Tuppitt's parlor—a rubber plant with dusty leaves blocked the window, and the chairs in ugly tapestry croaked loudly when Susy sank into their depths.

She had but only one visitor in Mrs. Tuppitt's parlor, and he had not come back.

So now Susy kept to her room in the evenings, and could sit in the straight chair beside the bureau or on her own bed. Her company was limited to one covered mirror, the wall and a little row of books on the window ledge.

Now she had just thrown her book down on the bed and gazed over to stare at herself with critical eyes. It was quite true, she did look like an old maid. Not a hair of her smooth brown head escaped her hair net, and her white blouse was so immaculate, her clean that it was tiresome. Her brown eyes had lost their sparkle. She was neat—oh, wonderfully neat—but that was all.

"What have you got to complain of?" she asked, in a harsh, self-satisfied reflection, "you're independent, your work isn't disagreeable and you're in New York, where you have all the advantages on the other side of the Atlantic." But her mind interrupted, "If you can afford 'em."

She remembered the small town she had come from, where any one could "afford" the cool evening air, and the white daisies, where any one could afford the walks through green hedgerows, to daisy fields, and where the air, soft with meadow-sweet and honeysuckle, with buckwheat flowers, was free air.

"Oh, I'd like to go back just once and see it," she whispered.

She suddenly and she caught her breath. She made a jumble of handkerchiefs and gloves and collars as she scatched out a time table.

Tomorrow was Friday and perhaps Mr. Hopkins would let her have the whole week end.

Mr. Hopkins did. As Susy wandered up the village street to the house with its green blinds and old-fashioned flower garden where she knew she could have a room for the night, the drowsy peace seemed to flow into her very soul.

After she had dipped her face into the cold spring water and answered all the questions of "Aunt Yame," as the village called her, Susy wandered down the quiet street.

It was a fine, little breeze played vaguely with her brown hair and in a sudden longing for freedom she reached up and pulled off the confining hair net. How deliciously cool was the night air; she turned back her long sleeves so that her smooth arms were bare.

There was a great single farmhouse in sight, just a long, gray road with a white-topped buckwheat field on one side and the trickle of a brook on the other side. She waited an old maid any longer, but just a girl sitting at the roadside humming over and over a few lines which began:

"Oh, you rascal, rascal, gypsy, oh!" She slipped off her shoes and stockings and buried her toes in the dewy grass. Then she heard footstep behind her, she turned and saw a shadow and scarcely breathed he might not see her. But he did. He was short and white and then laughed. "So, Polly, you thought you could hide from me?"

"I—I'm not, Polly," she answered. He perched down at her elbow and then both of them started back. The last time he had seen her was in Mrs. Tuppitt's parlor, and the last time she had seen him his broad back was disappearing down the steps of the brownstone house as she looked wistfully from between the Nottingham curtains.

He glanced down at her in surprise.

Instant Quaker Oats

Cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes

Now there are two great reasons for getting Quaker Oats. One is exquisite flavor. This brand is flaked from quaker grains only—the rich, plump, flavorful oats.

Now there's another style. It is Instant Quaker Oats—the quickest-cooking oats in the world. It cooks in 3 to 5 minutes, so it means an oat dish almost ready.

Same quality, same flavor. But in Instant Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small thin flakes cook quickly.

Your grocer has both styles. If you want Instant look for "Instant" on the label. Then you can have delicious oats ready in 5 minutes.

OUT OUR WAY

price: little wisps of her hair blew about her cheeks and her bare white arms clanked her knees.

"Why, Susan Lawrence, how you've changed!" he exclaimed, trying to reconcile his picture with the prim girl in stiff blouse and stiffer manner he had seen last.

"And, how you've changed, Petie Harris!" she cried. "With a milk pail on one arm and—"

"And you want to be off with the rascal-tangle gypsies, do you?" he chuckled. "It was starlight there was something provocative in the way she laughed back over her shoulder, and Peter Harris forgot everything but that she was a fleet white thing who was teasing him. He set his milk pail down, and in a few strides he had caught her, and looking down into her smiling face, he said, sternly, 'Come into the city to see you, and when you sat across the room from me I couldn't talk to you, and the way you had—so stiff and city—put me off—I never dared go again, Susy.'

Then very suddenly he leaned down and kissed her.

She broke away from his arms, and this time she did not take a few feet steps, but she ran breathless, with thumping heart, through the meadow grass that cut her feet, stumbled into a rabbit hole, was up again with a sobbing breath and down the back road to Aunt Yame's white cottage. The screen door snapped behind her, and she reached the white fastness of her room, still unclean.

She, Susy Lawrence, had been kissed under the stars by a man she hadn't seen for a year! She knew all of a sudden who she had come back to the village. It was not the green hedgerows nor the daisy fields. It was not the white stars, nor the meadow-sweet, but just Petie Harris, with his brown skin and his clear eyes and his great voice and strong arms. And he had kissed her under the stars! She did not sleep well that night, and when at dawn she tossed at last into oblivion, a tiny teasing thought came in the door of her mind. "Why had he said, 'So, Polly, you thought you could hide from me?'"

Susy waited for him all next morning, but he did not come. In the late afternoon she packed her bag and decided to go back to the city at once.

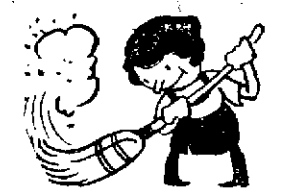

She was saying good-by to Aunt Yame as a tall figure pushed open the gate.

"Going, Susy? I'll carry your bag," was all Peter Harris said.

"Going, Susy? I'll carry your bag," was all Peter Harris said.

WOMEN IN PARIS REFUSE TO BUY EXPENSIVE DRESS

Makers of Laces and Embroideries Appeal in Vain to Fashion Designers

PARIS.—Disheartened and saddened by the evident determination of the women of Paris to adorn themselves simply, in the matter of dress, those who are interested in the selling of laces, feathers and embroidery have come together to ask the women for mercy.

M. Dior, minister of commerce, dwells upon the stagnant condition of the industries which provide feminine finery, and tells the fashion artists they must do something about it. The answer given him is that the dressmakers are powerless.

"This simplicity which troubles M. Dior," one leading gown designer said recently, "addens us as much as it does him." Our models are simple because they are inexpensive, and please our clients. The eight hour day, taxes, high wages and customs duties, involving enormous restrictions like the American tariff bill which came into force lately, all make a cheap and plain dress necessary.

The latest models shown are with cut lace and broadens, and of plain and cheap materials.

THE LAUSANNE CONFERENCE

BY FRANK H. SIMONDS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Postponement of the Lausanne conference and even more the circumstances attending the postponement serve to make clear the portentous fact that in the face of a crisis of almost unlimited possibilities for evil, France and Great Britain have so far been unable to adjust their divergent policies and conflicting interests.

One will recall that there was a similar situation in Paris in 1919 at the moment when the Germans set out from Berlin to get the terms of the treaty of Versailles and it was the fear of a failure of allied accord which coerced Mr. Wilson into accepting the Shantung settlement. Later on, the situation in Paris in 1919 at the moment when the Germans set out from Berlin to get the terms of the treaty of Versailles and it was the fear of a failure of allied accord which coerced Mr. Wilson into accepting the Shantung settlement.

What is at issue should be very clear to the American audience. British policy in the near east has met with disaster. The British at the present moment stand isolated in the presence of the victorious Turk. Unless they have the assistance of their French and Italian allies of the war, they must unambiguously surrender to the Turk or undertake a war single-handed, a war which Bonar Law has very recently asserted is beyond their strength.

But while the near eastern question is a matter of life and death for the British empire, it is of relatively small concern for the French and the Italians, particularly for the French, who can with comparative equanimity see the Turk return not in his old time strength but in a strength which he has hardly known for a full century. What the near east means for the French is an opportunity to force the British into a general bargain, France is ready to support Britain on the Bosphorus, prepared Britain will back France on the Rhine. But, the Turk is obvious, that Bonar Law is not ready yet to go so far in reversing his predecessor's policy and while he is unready the rift between French and British policy at Constantinople remains unbridged.

Ever since the Paris conference the British policy has been evolving in the direction of Germany, not as a matter of sympathy, but as a matter of business. The British have been unwilling that the French should take extreme measures against the Germans because such measures would bring about economic collapse in Germany with great resulting loss to Britain, while the political results would bestow upon France military supremacy in Europe for a long time to come.

But it has been the calculation of Lloyd George and of his advisers, or rather associates, since he has rarely had advisers in recent months, that while the British support was vital to France, Britain did not need French aid. This would have been measureably true had the British policy in the near east succeeded, it is totally untrue now, when the Turk, supported by both the French and the Italian has triumphed.

Until the general election in England is over, however, it is quite plain that Bonar Law will not have a free hand to deal with the French and that any considerable surrender to French demands might lose votes for him while the campaign was still in progress. So he has held out for a postponement of the Lausanne conference and has prevailed by the rather drastic method of declining to permit the British delegates to go.

It is manifest, however, that such a public advertisement of Anglo-French differences as has been made by the dispute over postponement, only gives the Turk new confidence. His demands continue to mount and despite a superficial show of firmness every crisis is marked by some new allied concession. Thus when Lausanne does begin, the allies will have very little to offer on their side to reinforce their demands.

The Turk, moreover, holds the trumps, he can, if he chooses, direct his victorious armies against the British in Mesopotamia at any moment. He means, in any event, to demand Mosul, which is the center of the oil regions in Mesopotamia and the only solid profit the British now have to show for an enormously expensive adventure in the near east.

If the French should finally be persuaded to support the British for a price, that is in return for British assurances of support on the Rhine, the Turk would be able to attack the French in Syria as well as the British in Mesopotamia and neither the British nor the French tax payers are ready to bear the burdens of a new war.

You have then the hopelessly complicated situation, that of the Turk facing the British and in addition there is the new Italian foreign policy, to be made by the fascisti, headed by Mussolini, who before he came to power wrote:

"It is not in Italy's interest to contribute to the preservation of the British empire, rather Italy's ends are best served by collaborating in its destruction."

All of which means that if France now insists that French support in the near east shall be paid for by British support on the Rhine, contemporary Italy is going to demand its fair both in the Mediterranean and the Adriatic. If France wants a free hand in dealing with Germany, Italy is equally anxious to be unhampered in reopening the Fiume and Dalmatian debates with Jugo-Slavia.

As a consequence the Turk has all the advantage, his foes are divided, none of them is willing to embark upon a war. His chief enemy, Great Britain, is hesitating between a surrender to the dual D'Orsay and to Ankara, while if Britain refuses to pay the required price both in Rome and in Paris, the Turk will have French and Italian aid at Lausanne.

That Lausanne can really settle anything now patently depends upon the ability of Britain to entice French and Italian support in the next few days. But meantime the Turk is able to force matters by some overt act in Constantinople which will precipitate war before Britain has been able to make her bargain and thus insure her isolation. For it is almost inconceivable that either France or Italy will embark upon a new war in which no possible profit could balance their material loss and the chief gain in any event would be British.

MILWAUKEE PUSHES FIGHT TO PREVENT LOWERING OF LAKE

Battle Resumed With Illinois
Senator's Plan for Waterway
from Lake to Mississippi

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—The Milwaukee harbor commission, Association of Commerce and Chamber of Commerce prepared Thursday to resume the battle which has been going on for years to prevent lowering of the water level in Lake Michigan to the detriment of Wisconsin harbors, following announcement by Senator Medill McCormick, Illinois, that he intends to ask the next congress to sanction a commercial waterway nine feet deep from Chicago to the Mississippi river.

Both Herman Beyer, secretary of the harbor commission, and Chalmers B. Traver, secretary of the Association of Commerce, were inclined to question the senator's proposition, provision for the construction of a dam across the St. Clair river at the foot of Lake Huron to back up water and prevent lowering of the level in Lake Michigan.

MAJESTIC PRESENTS MAINE'S COMEDIANS IN "DIVORCE CURE"

Before you pay out your good hard earned American dollars for a piece of paper which parts you forever from the one you promised to love, honor and blanket, blank, buy a ticket to the Majestic Theater and take "The Divorce Cure" which Billy Maine's popular company of comedians is administering this week. You'll save a lot of money because you'll never get that divorce. If you don't believe the cure works ask tier-trader and Oliver West who took the cure or any of the La Crosse people who saw the show last night.

John and Martha Weatherby had lived together peacefully for twenty-nine years and three hundred and sixty-four days, but on their thirtieth wedding anniversary, Oh Min! Fight and fight and fight. Poor examples enough to their daughter and son-in-law but it cured them and it will cure you.

Harry Welch delights the audience with his impersonation of Sampson, the droll negro servant.

Wolfe and Noel presenting some catchy songs and The Harmony Hounds Quartette complete the vaudeville part of the bill.

"The Divorce Cure" will be at the Majestic today and tomorrow. On the same program is "Lights of the Desert" with Shirley Mason and Allan Forrest.

The votes of the north precinct of the Fifth ward are probably the only ones that will be recounted, as the two precincts of this ward show widely different results. The south precinct showed an overwhelming majority for Wheratt, while the north precinct showed a large majority for Lindahl.

PROBE DEATH OF HUNTER

ESCANABA, Mich.—Marquette county authorities are conducting an investigation into the death of Hjalmar Harmenen, 41, a deer hunter, whose dead body was found in a swamp in Ewing Township, Marquette county, last Tuesday. The woods were so dense at the point where the men's bodies were found that it required several hours to carry the body to a road where it could be placed in an ambulance.

HOLIDAY DANCES
PLANNED TO SWELL
FUNDS FOR UNION

Five Thousand Expected to be Raised for Memorial at Wisconsin University

MADISON, Wis.—Christmas dances in 50 towns and cities in nine different states will be the means of raising $5,000 for the Memorial Union fund. The newly-devised plan was explained by Catherine Wilson, 24, chairman, at a meeting of the prospective workers.

That every worker get one alumnus in his home town, no matter what state it be in, to rent a dance hall and secure good music, is the aim of the undertaking. The worker himself is to sell a minimum of $100 worth of tickets to his home town friends and students at Wisconsin. He is to be responsible for the conduct of the whole project.

Raffling off of Keexies, fortune telling and novelty dances will be offered at dances if possible to bring in more money.

A tea dance for both townspeople and university students will be staged by an Indiana worker. A small but active alumni body will support him.

Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota and Iowa are already represented by dance workers, and Missouri, North Dakota and Kentucky offer possibilities of profitable territory. A few towns in each of these states giving successful dances under direction of their student representatives, will make it possible to reach the $5,000 mark, according to Miss Wilson.

The four students who have initiated plans for the project and who are acting as an informal central committee are Catherine Wilson, 24, Robert Schmuck, 24, Arthur Ardiel, 24, and Tom Twinston, 24.

The choice of the 50 workers from towns in these various states will be made by the central committee among personal friends and students prominent in campus activities. The affair is not to be carried out by any particular organization, but by these students working only as a student body.

BOARD ADJOURNS
BUDGET SESSIONS
UNTIL NEXT WEEK

Increases Asked by all Departments
Would Boost Cost of Government Ten Million

MADISON, Wis.—The state board of public affairs which has spent the past three days hearing budget requests of Wisconsin state departments, will adjourn Friday afternoon until next week, J. B. Borden, secretary announced. Meetings will be continued next week.

A large share of the important state departments have presented their budget proposals to the board, practically all of them asking large increases over the past biennium despite the request of Governor Blaine that state expenses be held down.

Indications were that requests of $55,000,000 would be before the public affairs board for consideration. These requested appropriations will be pared down by the board before going to the finance committee of the legislature.

The budget for educational purposes presented to the board late Wednesday amounts to approximately $20,000,000 for the biennium, the university being the only state educational institution to hold its requests for appropriations down to the approximate level of the past two years.

Judging by the rate of increase in requests in the early budgets submitted to the board the cost of operating the state government will be nearly $10,000,000 more than during the past two years. It is thought, however, that the board will cut out large sections of the requested appropriations.

The nine Wisconsin normal schools Thursday afternoon presented their requests totaling $5,000,000 for the biennium, or over $1,500,000 more than was expended during the past two years.

Sailstad, alleged to have perished in a cottage fire at Lake Nebagamon the night of August 26-27, 1920, was granted certificates of adoption for her two children, Edward J. aged 7 and Leona, aged 4, in court at Eau Claire today. LEGALITY OF GRAIN
TRADING ACT GOES TO SUPREME COURT

CHICAGO, Ill.—By The Associated Press.—Test of the new grain futures trading regulatory act Friday was passed to the United States supreme court by action in the federal district court here.

Judge Carpenter denied the bill for an injunction filed by the Chicago Board of Trade, but continued to force a stay order preventing enforcement of the law, and then granted the board an appeal to the supreme court. This the court explained, would be the shortest method of reaching an adjudication of the constitutionality of the act.

Judge Carpenter also denied a petition of the American Farm Bureau federation to intervene in the suit, explaining that while the government would welcome any assistance of the federation, he saw no reason why the organization should be made a co-defendant with the government.

Leading grain men said that the action and the continuance of the stay order preventing enforcement of the law would serve to end the feeling of uncertainty in the grain trade.

WOOD COUNTY VOTES
FUNDS FOR CAMPAIGN
AGAINST MOONSHINE

WISCONSIN, RAPIDS, Wis.—A special appropriation of $5,000 to be used in a campaign to reduce the manufacture and sale of "moonshine" whiskey in Wood county, was passed by the county board late Thursday afternoon by a vote of 25 to 18 and an amendment to strike out the specific purpose of the appropriation was defeated by an overwhelming vote. Wood county is believed to be the first county in Wisconsin to make a special appropriation for the enforcement of prohibition.

Supervisor A. L. Bennett of Cranmore in urging passage of the resolution asserted the violation of the liquor was prevalent and occurred in practically every town in the county, and that "moonshine" whiskey was making the highways unsafe for travel and the country dance halls places of gross immorality.

SOLON SPRINGS, Mich.—Relatives and friends of Rev. Griffith Crawley, her husband, Monday were awaiting the report on the investigation into the death of Mrs. Clara Bothwell-Crawley, whose body was exhumed at Gary, Ind., and the vital organs sent to Chicago for examination at the request of relatives who fear possible foul play through poison.

Mrs. Crawley became ill in July and died August 11. According to Dr. A. G. Wilcox of this city, death was due to pneumonia and other causes. He said that if Mrs. Crawley had been poisoned there was no trace of it apparent.

Mrs. Crawley was unconscious most of the time during her illness and talked incessantly but incoherently, according to Miss Hannah Strand, nurse of Duluth, who attended the minister's wife from July 24 to August 11.

During the week preceding August 10, she said Rev. Crawley seemed unable to take care of himself. She described his actions as "queer" and said that he was weak and unable to walk and frequently was given a hypodermic injection by Dr. Wilcox.

Miss Strand added that when she was not attending the stricken woman Mrs. William Davis, a daughter-in-law of Mrs. Crawley's cared for her. She said Mrs. Davis came with her husband November 30, 1921, to open the parsonage at Solon Springs for her father, Rev. Crawley.

According to the minister, "jealous and hated" over the division of Mrs. Crawley's estate, estimated at $75,000 by William Bothwell, son by her first husband, are responsible for the present investigation.

EXTENSIVE CHANGES DECLARED NECESSARY IN U. W. MAIN HALL

Remodeling of Bascom Hall
Urged by University
Business Manager

BUDGET INCLUDES PLANS FOR BUILDING NEW DORMITORIES

Changes also Needed in Chemistry
Building, Engineering Shops

MADISON, Wis.—Old Bascom hall at the university, known to thousands of "grads" scattered all over the country as "Main Hall," may be extensively remodeled within the next two years. J. P. Phillips, business manager of the university, told the state board of public affairs, meeting to consider the budget, that $177,000 was needed for building improvements at Bascom hall which includes $65,000 for equipment. Since the fire that destroyed the dome of main hall a number of years ago, the insurance money has been held in trust with the idea that ultimately the building would have to undergo extensive changes to meet the constant increase of students.

In the building program presented to the board of public affairs, $800,000 for the biennium is asked for the purpose of building dormitories. The request points out, however, that a plan of constructing these buildings by private capital is under consideration.

For the last three sessions of the legislature the university has asked for extensions to the chemistry building and the request of $15,000 is again presented this year. The university authorities are working for $62,000 for the improvements at the law building and $29,500 for additions at the agricultural department. It is asking for $82,000 for improvements and equipment of machine shops.

When the revolving funds are expended, the university is asking for $14,000 additional for "operation" during the coming year and $60,000 additional for operation for the fiscal year 1925.

"The most pressing need of the engineering college," says Mr. Phillips, "is for an addition to the shops at Camp Randall. There is still a large amount of machinery bought from the government at low cost which has not been set up because there is no place for it. On our estimates of two years ago we included $185,000 for the entire shop building at Camp Randall. The regents ask for only a small part of this at the present time. They ask that two bays and a locker room be added to the present shop at a cost of $83,000 for construction, power line and wiring."

The law library has quite outgrown its present quarters. It is very valuable and is growing rapidly. It is now in a building which is not preproof and which is loaded about to capacity. The regents repeal the request of two years ago for a fire-proof shack. The cost of this shack with equipment is estimated by the late architect at $62,000.

Two years ago the sum of $600,000 was asked for to provide a dormitory for men and an additional dormitory for women. The request is renewed this fall. It should be noted, however, that the recent decision of the attorney general, indicating a way by which private capital may be used to build dormitories, if the legislature should approve such a plan. There is therefore a question of policy involved on which the legislature must decide.

WISCONSIN "U" LEADS IN ATTACK ON THE SCALPER

MADISON, Wis.—That the University of Wisconsin is taking the lead among Big Ten universities in endeavoring to prevent the further spread of scalping at athletic games is the opinion of Mr. Paul P. Hunter who has been conducting the ticket sales for the various games.

Thus far the university authorities have apprehended nine men who are suspected of scalping, according to Mr. Hunter. The University of Chicago has made only one arrest and Minnesota only two in attempts to round up illegal sellers of athletic tickets.

Four men have been arrested and several more apprehended and pending arrest on charges of selling tickets.

Delightful Tonic

Hurry! It's your duty! Each day you wake up and find your hair falling out and your scalp itching. You want to avoid balding. What a pity. Danderine almost instantly stops falling hair of men or women and cleans every particle of dandruff away. Then the hair takes on new life, vigor and strength to grow strong, thick and long.

Danderine is delightful, not sticky or greasy. Go to any druggist, now and get a bottle. Use it. Have healthy, heavy, beautiful hair and lots of it.

BLAINE HAS LEAD OVER BENTLEY OF CLOSE TO 200,000

Official Returns from all But Eleven Counties Filed With
Secretary of State

ALL THREE AMENDMENTS ARE DEFEATED ON PRESENT RETURNS

Chance Still Exists for Passage
of Jury Amendment

MADISON, Wis.—With eleven counties, including Milwaukee, missing from the official returns which have already been filed with the secretary of state, Governor John J. Blaine has a lead of approximately 200,000 over A. A. Bentley, the independent democratic nominee. The counties missing are: Bayfield, Columbia, Douglas, Grant, Green, Kenosha, Langlade, Milwaukee, Outagamie, Pierce and Portage.

With these counties missing the following is the gubernatorial vote in the November election:

Bentley, 34,340; Dietrick, 1,375; Welles, 15,650; Blaine, 223,160; Arnold, 5,812.

The vote for lieutenant governor was as follows:

Pfiffner, 30,788; Sanford, 14,371; Comings, 247,026; Georgensen, 6,658.

There is still a possibility that the constitutional amendment providing for a less than a unanimous vote in a jury trial of civil cases may have passed. With returns missing from Adams, Bayfield, Columbia, Douglas, Kenosha, Langlade, Milwaukee and Outagamie counties, the vote was:

Jury amendment—For, 114,543; against, 114,952.

Sheriff amendment—For, 14,338; against, 146,942.

Municipal debt amendment—For, 64,028; against, 156,400.

With returns missing from Columbia, Douglas, Kenosha, Langlade, Milwaukee, Outagamie and Pierce counties, the vote on United States senator was as follows:

Jessie Jack Hooper, 56,204; Richard Koepfel, 1,322; A. R. Bucknam, 9,400; R. M. La Follette, 273,645.

The prohibition party is greatly disappointed in the vote which it received in the general election. W. C. Depp, chairman of the prohibition party, believes that the party this year would poll 100,000 votes. The indications are that the party has polled less than 18,000 votes in all counties of the state. F. L. Welles, the prohibition candidate for governor, has 16,650, with returns missing from eleven counties. The estimates for the missing counties will not produce more than 2,000 votes, making the total approximately 18,000 votes.

LA FOLLETTE AND BLAINE ASSEMBLY LEADER CONFER ON PROPOSED LAW CHANGES

MADISON.—By The Associated Press.—Changes that can be made in Wisconsin laws by the 1923 legislature to satisfy the demands of voters and fulfill promises made by the La Follette Progressive Republican campaign were discussed and tentatively decided upon at a conference held Wednesday between Senator Robert M. La Follette and Assemblyman John L. Dahl, administration leader in the lower house. It was learned today by The Associated Press.

Taxation, highways, rural credits and educational administration were the subjects stressed by the two political leaders at their conference. Before returning to Washington, Senator La Follette is said to have expressed himself as of the opinion that definite changes must be made in each of these fields of legislation by the 1923 session.

The conference between the senator and Assemblyman Dahl lends further credence to the belief that the Barron county legislator, who is expected to be speaker of the assembly, will be one of the outstanding leaders of the legislature.

Propose Tax Revision

The proposed tax law changes, considered as the most important of suggested alterations in the state laws, are to include repeal of the personal property offset to the income tax, re-apportionment of the income tax, slight increase in income tax rates, removal of the excess clause to the income tax law and provision of adequate funds to permit the tax commission to investigate income tax returns of all corporations.

Assemblyman Dahl points out that income taxes in the state have fallen this year to less than $4,000,000 while personal property offset is expected to cut off another $2,000,000 leaving only $2,000,000 of tax. He proposed to remove the offset so that the whole income tax will be realized.

Under present laws only 10 percent of the tax on incomes is retained by the state, 70 percent going to cities and 20 percent to counties. A fight is expected to be waged to change this apportionment giving the greater portion of the tax to the state. By cutting off the personal property offset, and re-apportioning the tax, Mr. Dahl says that the need for any marked increase in income tax rates will be done away with. Removal of the excess clause to the income tax law is regarded as of less importance than the changes in the apportionment and the removal of the offset.

While discussed at the conference, it is understood that no agreement was reached on changes that would be urged in the highway tax laws, other than a decision to oppose a gasoline sales tax to raise road money. This is one of the proposals recommended by the legislative committee of the county boards association to the boards now in session.

Assemblyman Dahl is to urge, however, a division of authority over the various classes of highways in the state. He would give the state highway commission control over state trunk and federal trunk roads, the county highway commission control over county trunk highways and town roads. This Mr. Dahl says, would place responsibility nearer the people and make the road building program more responsive to public wishes.

Loans for Farmers

The establishment of state controlled rural credits to afford the farmers of the state a means of obtaining loans on satisfactory terms, is also to be proposed to the legislature. Assemblyman Dahl says that there is a demand from farmers for some action by state to relieve them during the existing financial stringency.

OIL LIGHT BEATS ELECTRIC OR GAS

BURNS 94 PER CENT AIR

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 percent air and 6 percent common kerosene or oil.

The inventor, C. L. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 day's FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

He believes that if the state will establish the machinery, sufficient capital will be attracted to provide the agricultural interests of the state funds sufficient for their needs.

The other big problem is involved in the state's educational administration. Five separate and distinct departments are now directing the schools of the state, without centralized control or concerted action. Mr. Dahl said. He declared that one session of the legislature probably could not effect the changes he believes necessary in the educational administration in Wisconsin, but said that a start should be made in 1923.

Amendment to the state constitution to provide for the initiative, referendum and recall is to be proposed to the legislature with likelihood of passage, according to the assemblyman. Senator Henry A. Huber of Stoughton is behind the move for direct legislation in Wisconsin.

The coming legislature by setting out on a definite program and pushing all business as rapidly as possible can complete its session in four months, Assemblyman Dahl said. He says that if elected speaker of the lower house he intends to keep the members at work in an effort to cut down the length of the session.

WORKER CONTRACTING TUBERCULOSIS ON JOB GIVEN COMPENSATION

MADISON, Wis.—A former college athlete working in the chemical laboratory of a Wisconsin factory was awarded compensation by the industrial commission when it was discovered that he had contracted tuberculosis while working at his job, the commission announced Friday. Evidence showed, according to the industrial body, that in the process of making an analysis of materials acids fumes rose directly in the applicant's face. After several months he developed a cough and an examination showed tuberculosis. The commission held that the disability was attributable to the occupation and awarded compensation.

Compensation was denied the widow of a drug store clerk whose husband died from erysipelas contracted while working. The commission held that the cause of the infection was not directly traceable to his occupation.

"RICH MEN'S WIVES"—RIVOLI

"Rich Men's Wives," has been selected by the Rivoli theatre for its principal attraction, beginning next Sunday and continuing for three days thereafter. Advance information declares that this play, a new type of drama, turns the calcium on the social butterfly in much the same manner a scientist would use a microscope on the winged species.

When R. P. Schuberg, president of Preferred Pictures, Inc., decided to produce this story—inspired, it is said, by the unhappy revelations recently in one of America's leading families—he chose Gansner, maker of "Kismet" and other big pictures, to direct it. Then, having obtained Gansner, he went seeking for a cast capable and popular. For his principals, he selected House Peters, Claire Windsor, the reigning beauty of the screen today; Joyce Richard Headrick, the unforgettable child artist; Rosemary Theby, Gaston Glass, Myrtle Stedman, Charles Clary, Mildred June, Carol Holloway, William Austin and Martha Matton.

"Rich Men's Wives" is an original story, written by Frank Jazay and Agnes Christine Johnston, and was adapted to the screen by Louis Zoller and is being distributed by the newly-formed Al Lichtman Corporation.

RIVIERA TODAY

A cool stout back roll is oftentimes termed as having "all-wool facilities," but in the motion picture industry "the long green" is susceptible to shrinkage on the slightest provocation. The Dial Film Company, which screened the film version of Irving Bacheller's novel, "The Light in the Clearing," for Hedkisson release, which opens at the Riviera theatre tonight, were the victims of a bank roll shrinkage. The company had planned to leave the city for a location, and called hundreds of extra people together, at ten dollars per day and made them make ready for an extended location trip. The following day, the Los Angeles weather man "double-crossed" the company and ordered rain, and for three days in succession, thus delaying filming but not, however, causing any delay in paying the salaries of the hundreds of extra people.

SHIRLEY MASON—MAJESTIC
A sparkling picture came to the Majestic Theatre last night. Shirley Mason is the bright twinkle in "Lights of the Desert."
The scenes are set in and near a desert town of Nevada. The settings show that much care has been exercised to give the proper atmosphere and many are beautiful in composition. Although Shirley Mason is a show girl at the beginning of the story, her portrayal has enough originality to lift the character out of the conventional.

Shirley is a glorious girl who glows with charm. The story fits her to a picture, and the cast has been well chosen. Allan Forrest, Miss Mason's leading man, supports her admirably. The director has handled the scenes with skill.

"LORNA DOONE"—RIVOLI
Romance comes riding across the screen in picturesque seventeenth century garb in the sumptuous production of "Lorna Doone" which is playing at the Rivoli Theatre this week. From a novel that has been a favorite with three generations, Maurice Tourneur has produced a film that combines the beauty of an old world painting and the thrills of a modern melodrama.

Madge Bellamy, the new Thomas H. Ince star, is an ideal "Lorna." She bears a striking resemblance to the handsome "John" risks so many perils. In the beautiful costumes which she wears in scenes at the court and Westminster Abbey she might well be mistaken for the model from whom the famous painting of "Lorna Doone" was made.

John Bowers, as the conqueror of the terrible Doones, who murdered his father, surpasses anything he has done in screen characterizations while the most picturesque figure in the play is that of "Sir Ensor Doone," the exiled nobleman who has become the leader of the wild outlaws. Frank Keenan, the creator of "Yosemite," plays this role superbly. Donald McDonald as the hated "Carver Doone" has produced a character that will be numbered among the screen's most hated "heavies."

The novel has been screened with an evident disregard for expense for the settings are rarely beautiful while the photography attests the innate artistry of the producer.

CASINO TODAY

Now comes Rodolph Valentino, Paramount star, to take exception to the criticism of American men by Countess Nadja Ostrowska, who recently was quoted in a Los Angeles newspaper.

"I am a foreigner myself," declares Valentino. "May I not then take the position of questioning another foreigner's unjust criticism of American men?"

Valentino is at the Casino today in his latest Paramount picture, "The Young Rajah." As a special attraction the Beyerstedt Bros. orchestra will play at the cozy Main St. house.

can men? First of all, the code of ethics which I learned as a part of my education, forbids me to accept hospitality and then criticize the host.

"Fortunately, I possess some loyal friends among both the gentlemen and ladies of America and during my ten years' sojourn in this great country, have failed to find in any of them, any of the qualities that the Countess so nonchalantly attributed to them."

WHITESIDE SEAT SALE Seats are now selling at the La Crosse theater box office for "The Bandit" in which Walker Whiteside will be seen Monday, November 20. The play is described as a thrilling melodrama and even surpasses last season in both New York and Chicago, because of its many puzzling situations, its clever motives, and its Oriental passion and intrigue.

The scene is laid in India and the English coast-guard are seeking to discover the master minds who are stirring up a revolution. Walker Whiteside is seen as Prince Tamar and has one of those Oriental roles which he plays so well. He will have the support of Miss Sydney Shields, the brilliant emotional actress and the New York cast which includes Harold Velasquez, Grace Lynn, Mignon MacIntosh, Edwin Eaton, Harold De Becker, Sammie Robert, Grant Sherman, M. De Silva and St. Pasumba.

LA CROSSE NORMAL ASKS HALF MILLION FOR NEXT BIENNIUM

Budget for all Teacher-Training Institutions Totals Approximately Five Millions

QUESTION OF DORMITORIES DISCUSSED BY VAN AUKEN

No Appropriations for Housing Asked this Year

MADISON, Wis.—While the normal school regents of Wisconsin have not asked for appropriations for women's dormitories at the different institutions, nevertheless this subject became a topic of discussion by regents C. S. Van Auker of La Crosse, and E. J. Dempsey of Oshkosh, before the state board of public affairs Thursday afternoon. Mr. Dempsey said that he was very interested in the plan proposed at the university for the building of these dormitories by private capital. He said that dormitories were needed at a number of normal schools and if the plan of private dormitory building worked out satisfactorily at the university an effort would be made to build dormitories on a similar plan in the larger normal school cities, Oshkosh, La Crosse, Stevens Point and Platteville. There was some suggestion that a financial plan for privately owned dormitories might be worked out to cover all the normals in the state, but Senator Timothy Burke of Green Bay did not believe that the working of the entire proposition as a unit would be as successful as where each city took up the idea. Mr. Dempsey pointed out in his statement to the normal regents, that an aggregate of $2,651,504 was needed for the fiscal year 1924 and $2,457,952 for the fiscal year 1925. For the fiscal year 1924, the normals would spend $1,761,884 for operation; $33,334 for maintenance; and $789,719 for buildings, improvements, furnishings and land. For the fiscal year 1925, normals would spend $1,802,231 for operation; $69,782 for maintenance; $615,933 for capital. For the first year of the biennium, the La Crosse normal is asking for $310,055 for operation; $14,050 for maintenance and $43,345 for capital, and for the second year La Crosse is asking for $158,505 for operation;

$8,505 for maintenance and $19,350 for capital. For the first year of the biennium the Milwaukee normal is asking $310, for operation; $14,050 for maintenance; $88,250 for capital and for the second year it is asking for $322,790 for operation; $9,150 for maintenance and $37,250 for capital. The Oshkosh normal school is asking for the first year $214,300 for operation; $8,750 for maintenance, and $343,785 for capital and for the second year the Oshkosh school is asking $219,890 for operation; $8,025 for maintenance and $28,190 for capital. At the Superior normal school for the first year $171,155 is asked for operation; $7,350 for maintenance and $50,500 for capital and for second year the Superior normal asks for $175,995 for operation; $6,475 for maintenance and $15,350 for capital. At Friday's meeting at the board of public affairs statements were filed by the civil service commission, the department of agriculture and state board of vocational education. The board expects to adjourn tonight and will meet next week in executive session to consider the requests of the different departments.

WOMAN PROHIBITION WORKER IS URGED BY STATE OFFICIAL

MADISON, Wis.—Speaking before the state officers of the Wisconsin League of Women, B. M. Jostad, state prohibition officer, said that he favored a woman field worker in this department. Mr. Jostad declared that with the appointment of one more field officer, preferably a woman, and one new clerk for the state prohibition office, the work in adult probation work in the state could be carried on with entire success. He also favored keeping the juvenile work, dealing with persons under 16 years of age, separate from the adult prohibition work, but he held that this juvenile work should also be centralized under the head of a state official, instead of being delegated to the various county boards.

"The Coffee is Excellent"

A comment often heard at the Palmer House of Chicago, famed throughout the nation for its service and the delicious dishes on its menu. To maintain the high standard set years ago, the greatest care is used in selecting the best in food, for it is here the most discriminating dine and it is they who say "the coffee is excellent."

An original "live-flame" roasting process seals all the flavor in the bean. An air-tight metal container maintains the original flavor and freshness of the coffee, so that all the exquisite full flavor goes into your cup.

Thomas J. Webb Coffee may be had ground or in the bean. The ground is especially recommended, because of uniformity in just the right size, and all the chaff is removed.

SOCIAL WORKERS ARRIVE TO PLAN FREE CHEST CLINIC

Persons Who Suspect They May Have Lung Trouble to be Examined

With the arrival today of two social workers, Misses Dorothy Durbin and Margaret Breen, from the staff of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association, intensive work for the Free Chest Clinic, which is to be held at the city hall in the health department rooms, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, was started. For several weeks, Miss Mary Rogan, county nurse, Miss Viola Nohr, supervising nurse in the health department, Misses Rose Jahanik, Mary Beck and Josephine Samsch, health department nurses, have been making preparations for the clinic, which for the past two years has been a semi-annual event. Talks in local schools on the curability and preventability of tuberculosis and on the importance of periodic physical examinations was a feature of today's program. A concentrated effort is being made to reach as many as possible of the contact cases, persons who have been in intimate and prolonged contact with tuberculosis, are being visited and urged to bring in every member for examination. As it will be impossible to reach all such families in the county, those not visited are asked to consider the newspaper announcement an invitation. Persons having any symptoms of lung trouble (among the danger signals are: loss of weight and appetite, lack of pep and a continual tired feeling; indigestion, feverishness, afternoon, and a persistent cough) are also specially invited to take advantage of this opportunity for free examination. Others who should not neglect this chance to make sure whether or not they have tuberculosis are: persons who have had bronchitis, pleurisy, pneumonia and influenza, and who have not recovered their health; anemic and underweight children; ex-service men, pronounced tuberculosis, and others, who for any reason, are concerned about the condition of their lungs. Patients examined at former clinics, who were diagnosed as tuberculous or where the disease was suspected, and former sanatorium patients, are requested to check up on their present condition by a thorough examination at the clinic. "Early discovery promises recovery" is the slogan of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association in its clinics, which have as their main object the discovery of unsuspected cases of tuberculosis in their incipient and most curable stages. Three examiners will work from 8:30 until 6 during the three days of the clinic.

RED AND BLACK WARRIORS IN CONDITION FOR MADISON BATTLE

LOCALS PLUNGE INTO STIFF TILT HERE SATURDAY

Outcome Determines Locals' Chances of Thanksgiving Day Game Here

HOPE TO AVENGE DEFEAT OF LAST SEASON SATURDAY

Play Two Years to Scoreless Tie Previous to '21

The probable lineups will be:

LA CROSSE	MADISON
Ash	O'Neil
Fritz	Kruller
Wheaton	Ilgen
Blackley	Pahlmeyer
Blatter	Frantschi
Liscovec	Bolasky
Cameron	Kubly
Reget	McDonald
Cap. Abraham	Trippolina
Weigent	Kearns
Frey	Gaibright
	Pachliff

The officials will be: Referee, Burke; umpire, McGowan; headlineman, Tamm; game will start promptly at 4:30 o'clock. Season tickets will admit to this game.

LA CROSSE high Saturday afternoon plunges into another hard game on her schedule when she meets the powerful Madison Central high school eleven, which with an almost perfect record, comes here to attempt elimination of La Crosse from the state title race. The outcome of this game will determine whether or not a "Turd" will be crowned.

MADISON WILL COME FRIDAY

MADISON, Wis.—Central High is rounding into shape for the hardest battle of the year against La Crosse Saturday afternoon. Thursday afternoon they will put on their final drill on the local field, and Friday they will take the train for La Crosse. Coach Johnson originally planned to take his team up Saturday morning but he wants them to have the benefit of a good night's rest before sending them against the La Crosse eleven.

key day tilt will be arranged at Normal field between either Superior or Marinette, two other strong claimants for the state honors. According to a statement by Coach Keogan, a Thanksgiving game hinges entirely upon how La Crosse comes out of the Madison battle.

Natural Rivals

Madison is one of La Crosse's most natural rival. They have been in past years, and this year finds the rivalry at its highest point, for Madison has been looking forward all season for this game and La Crosse now primes itself for the shot with which she hopes to avenge the fluke defeat of last year. For the past three years, the scores between these two schools are evidence of the perfect match they have been. In 1919, at Madison, the game ended with the score 0 to 0, and the following year in a game on the local gridiron, neither team was able to score. But the 1921 meet was disastrous for La Crosse, when their record was marred by a single touchdown which was made possible by a blocked punt.

Visitors Aggressive

Reports from Madison have described Coach Johnson's eleven as a fast and aggressive team, with a powerful front line, a backfield of the fastest material they have had in years, and two individual players who perform wonderfully. Tripolina, quarterback, is said to be even faster than Walsh of last year. He is also a clever and accurate passer. Kearns at right halfback is another football wizard who excels in the drop-kick department. In the Madison-Kenosha game, he completed two drop-kicks for a victory. Coach Howard L. Johnson is a graduate of Wisconsin, and it can be expected that the Madison team will employ the effective Coach Richards' style of offensive play, the passing game. And their defense must not be very weak judging from the fact that only six points have been scored on them all year, and that on a fluke pass at the hands of Janesville. The long hours of practice at Madison have been devoted particularly to the perfection of the forward pass, so the Madison attacking methods will undoubtedly take that form.

Long Scrimmage Here

Coach Keogan's squad has undergone stiff workouts this week and is now in the best of condition to meet the Capital city eleven. Dunham will not be used because of injuries to his shoulder. One hour of hard scrimmage Wednesday and Thursday afternoon has shown the development which has taken place during the week. Three or four plays took the first squad across the second string goalpost.

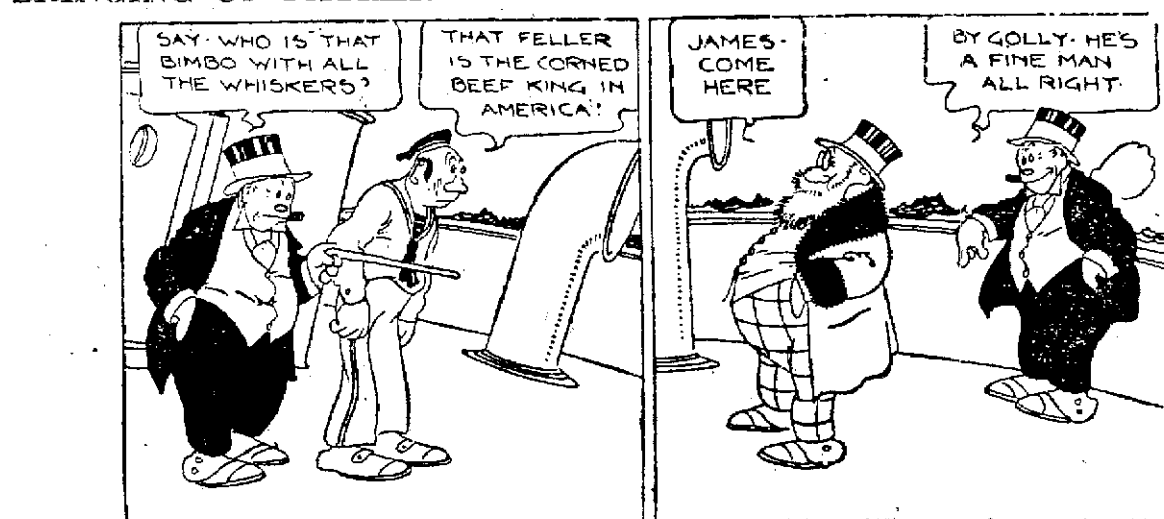

A special train has been secured to carry a large delegation of Madison readers to the scene of action, so there will be some competition in getting between the student bodies as well as between the two best matched teams the local fans have seen so far this season.

And Still Good

BRINGING UP FATHER

WISCONSIN AND MICHIGAN AWAIT WHISTLE STARTING IMPORTANT GAME SATURDAY

Richards States Badgers Will Give Wolverines "Good Battle"; Both Squads in Best of Condition for Clash

By BOB DUNN.

WHETHER Richards' renovated Badgers will make good the Cardinal slogan to "Get Michigan" will be determined at Ferry Field, Ann Arbor, Saturday afternoon in one of the most important games in the middle west this week. Iowa will also meet Ohio State in another contest that will have an important bearing on the conference title while Chicago fights with Illinois to remain in the running.

Both in Tip-Top Condition

Both Wisconsin and Michigan are in tip-top condition. The Wolverines have recovered from the shocks of the Ohio State struggle and will be presenting their strongest lineup against Wisconsin.

The Badgers, on the other hand, came out of the Illinois tilt in good shape physically.

"We're going to give Michigan a good battle," was the statement of Coach Richards before he entrusted with the team for Ann Arbor Thursday. Friday afternoon a signal drill was scheduled for the team and then a rest until starting time Saturday.

If Yost lives up to the reputation he has established as a coach, he will probably have his team prepared to stop the Badger passing attack as he and several of his stars have witnessed the Badgers in action in two important contests and are familiar with the aerial game as taught by Richards.

As far as running attack and straight football are concerned, Wisconsin will have to show a lot more than was shown here last Saturday if they are to win against the Wolverines.

Badgers Under Dog

Wisconsin will enter the game Saturday as the under dog and it will be right that will go a long way toward determining the outcome although undoubtedly Yost will have a new attack to use in this important battle. There is no doubt about the fact that the game will be Wisconsin's hardest contest of the year.

Yost has not yet revealed his hand to any conference scouts as he has not been hard pressed except by Vanderbilt earlier in the season. Yost's plan for this game is a team that is just as good as the Michigan aggregation. The outcome of the contest will depend largely on the conduct of the teams under intensive training. Under more favorable circumstances last week, the Badgers would have been fighting down miserably and will be fighting to make amends. As far as the battle between the rivals, Yost and Richards are concerned, Richards will be at a disadvantage because of the opportunity that Yost has had to scout his team during the engagements with Minnesota and Illinois.

Credible scores show Michigan to have the advantage on this basis the Wolverines are considered the favorites in the encounter, having defeated the Badgers by 24 points while the Indians turned around and defeated Wisconsin.

Lines About Even

The Michigan and Wisconsin lines back up on a pretty even basis as both contain many experienced men. Yost's chief problem during the early part of the season was to build up the center of his line, and this was also Richards' problem and each has succeeded pretty well in solving it. As far as the ends are concerned, both teams are strong as Captain Yost of the Wolverines is being considered as one of the most popular candidates for the job of center ends' job while Tabbell will also be favored by many in their choice of the ends' positions. In the cases of both teams the backfield are considerably weaker than the lines. Michigan has Kille and Tabbell to match up with Captain Williams and Gibson for Wisconsin. Tabbell is expected to perform advantageously for the Badgers in the kicking.

As far as the personnel of the two teams are concerned, there are probably no other two teams that are more evenly matched all the way through. Position for position, and if each team is possessed with the same knowledge of football and fine points of the game, the tussle Saturday should be one of the hardest fought battles of the year in the Big Ten. Many are inclined to believe that the fact that Michigan has had a rest for practically two full weeks while watching the Badgers at work will prove to be the advantage that will determine the outcome.

Job on Yost's Hands

Richards realizes this situation however, and has had the Michigan team headed in a direction that he has easily anticipated by Yost as was the passing game anticipated by the Badgers of Illinois.

A win by Wisconsin Saturday will go a long way in making up for the defeat against the Illinois a week ago. Saturday's contest will also determine the advantage in football between the two institutions which has been at deadlock for so many years. Last year when the teams met, the tables are reversed. One of the largest crowds of the season is expected to witness the tussle which will settle the argument at Ferry field Saturday.

Yost, defeated Tony Scazzia of Italy, ST. PAUL, Minn.—The 1922 international boxing tournament was set for February 9 to 19 here.

NEBRASKA READY TO MEET KANSAS AGGIES SATURDAY

Cornhuskers Already Have Four Scaps Dangling from their Belts

LINCOLN, Neb.—With the scaps of South Dakota, Missouri, Oklahoma and Kansas universities already hanging to their belts, and with a defeat from Syracuse stinging them, the Nebraska Cornhuskers are ready for a three game campaign which will end the season.

The Kansas Aggies, strong contenders for valley honors, who have shown flashes of fine football so far this season, will be the foes of the Cornhuskers Saturday on the Nebraska field. Nebraska has not played the Aggies since 1916, when it defeated them 14 to 0.

With comparative scores to consider, Nebraska ranks far in front as the best team. Kansas Aggies could get nothing better than a 7-7 tie with Oklahoma while the Nebraska Huskers through, or rather passed over, the Sooners for a score of 39 to 7.

Should the Huskers win in the battle with Kansas Aggies Saturday and then be able to add the scap of the Iowa State college (Ames) even the following week, the Nebraska team will have clinched the valley flag for the second successive year. While Drake university has so far not met a defeat, the extent of its victories has been for the most part over weaker teams.

It is possible that the Des Moines institution, if it also goes through the rest of the season without defeat, will file a claim for the championship.

In previous games between Nebraska and Kansas Aggies, the Huskers have each time come out victorious. The record follows:

1911—Kansas Aggies, 0; Nebraska, 59.
1912—Kansas Aggies, 6; Nebraska, 50.
1913—Kansas Aggies, 6; Nebraska, 24.
1914—Kansas Aggies, 0; Nebraska, 31.
1915—Kansas Aggies, 0; Nebraska, 21.
1916—Kansas Aggies, 0; Nebraska, 14.

Total scores: Nebraska, 180; Kansas Aggies, 12.

The lineup which will probably start the Kansas Aggies' game will be the same as that which started against Kansas at Lawrence last week. Possible exceptions are Noble at halfback and Nixon at guard.

The lineup: Left end, Schoenpel; left tackle, Wenke; left guard, Bassett; center, Peterson; right guard, Berquist; right tackle, Keller; right end, Scherer; quarter, Preston; left half, Lewellen; Noble; right half, H. DeWitz; fullback, Hartley (C).

STEVENS POINT AND RIVER FALLS HIGHS TO CLASH

Stevens Point high school football team will play the River Falls high school team for the championship of central and northwestern Wisconsin on the local gridiron on Friday afternoon.

Finishing in a tie with Wausau for the championship of the Wisconsin Valley conference, the Stevens Point team challenged Wausau to play a game to decide the championship, on a neutral field in this section. The offer was refused by Wausau.

River Falls is claiming to have won the title in the northwestern section of the state, and Stevens Point now holds the valley title. Neither of the teams has been defeated this season.

With comparative scores to consider, Nebraska ranks far in front as the best team. Kansas Aggies could get nothing better than a 7-7 tie with Oklahoma while the Nebraska Huskers through, or rather passed over, the Sooners for a score of 39 to 7.

COLLECTION OF RARE BUTTERFLIES GIVEN TO IOWA UNIVERSITY

Clinton Man Spent Lifetime in Collecting Eight Thousand Varieties of Insects

AMES, Iowa.—Gauzy, lacy winged butterflies to the number of 17,000, embracing specimens from virtually every part of the world, have been made a part of Iowa State college's entomological collection, a gift from J. S. Faaborg of Clinton, Iowa, who spent a lifetime in collecting the brilliant insects. Eight thousand different varieties of butterflies were represented in the gift.

Rare species from Java, Japan and Brazil, were numbered in the collection. From Java came several giant Atlas moths, the largest measuring ten inches across, the wings of this moth have markings which resemble snakes' heads, protecting it from attacks from birds.

Other peculiar butterflies among the collection are death's head moths from Japan, which carry the marking of a skull on their backs, and highly colored butterflies from Brazil and a transparent winged species from Africa.

Most of the specimens of foreign butterflies contained in the collection were obtained by Mr. Faaborg by collecting Iowa species and trading them to foreign dealers.

Opinions Vary
A settlement maker was speaking of the relaxed moral standards that she found among the people in her district in New York—owing, she thought, to the upsetting conditions of the war period.

"One boy I know," she said, "was recently sent to the reform school, and a neighbor was trying to console the lad's mother.

"Yes," said the mother, "it is a shame. He was such a good boy, too. Everything he stole he used to bring right home to me."—New York Sun.

YOUNG men like the smart touch of style in clothes "Tailored to Measure by Born".

Good style depends upon skill in adapting a fashion model to the lines of the individual figure; it can best be done in made-to-measure clothes.

You will like our way of carrying out your own style ideas; you will like the fit, the clean needle work, and the price of your Born Tailored Suit.

Why, then, accept a suit of the common "die cut" variety?

Will The Radicals Control The New Congress?

A Republican Congressional majority, so large as to be unwieldy, has been cut to a margin so small that in both Houses Republican legislation will be at the mercy of a handful of insurgents-of doubtful party regularity.

While the Republicans sustained losses in the election, the Milwaukee Journal (Ind.) can not see that the Democrats made any conclusive gains. Indeed, it is forced to conclude that if one looks for the real gains he finds them going to the radicals. The New York Sun notes that "Voters with radical sympathies have lined up with the radical candidates almost as generally as they might have if there had existed a great radical party. It has happened in the East and in the West. The radicalism that has come into evidence in this election exceeds sectional bounds. It has eaten into the very fiber of both the old parties."

Do not fail to read in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week the summary of opinion upon this very interesting development that has come out of the election. There are a host of other important news-features in THE DIGEST this week which will have more than an ordinary appeal. Among them are:

Barleycorn Fighting for Resurrection
